

EMERALD LAKE RESIDENTS FIGHT WATER RATE BOOST

Evidence Offered In Hearing Held
Insufficient

Insufficient evidence to justify the doubling of the water rates to consumers of the Emerald Lake area was presented yesterday by the C. H. Holt Realty Company before Examiner W. T. Satterwhite of the California State Railroad Commission in a hearing at the courthouse here.

After a partial hearing, during which George Leonard, Emerald Lake realty developer, was the principal witness examined, both Examiner Satterwhite and R. E. Savage, of Redwood City, an engineer for the commission, expressed themselves as unable to justify the increase.

Satterwhite declared the showing "insufficient," while Savage said: "The picture as presented, outside of the statement of applicants that 'we are out of money' is not convincing."

Leonard asked the commissioner to approve a $3 monthly meter rate, payable six months in advance, instead of the $1.50 presently charged and collected monthly. This would be for 400 cubic feet of water. He would also make a service charge of $1, and an installation charge of $15. Flat rate users would be charged $3 monthly, payable six months in advance. Extensions would be made only if the supply and pressure were adequate.

Figures were presented by Leonard showing a net loss of $2,743.95 for the system for 1931, and a loss of $1,092.50 for the four months of this year. He said revenue in 1931 amounted to $10,243, the expense $14,100 and the depreciation charge was $1,284, making a net loss of $5,141 for the year.

Leonard said it was necessary for the commission to approve the rate increase because the realty company now owed Redwood City $1200 for water, and must meet the current bills and a portion of the old ones as time goes on. Present rates, he said, were fixed in 1922, and should long since have been increased. He said he hoped to be able to buy water at a cheaper rate from Redwood City and San Francisco, but this appeared impossible at the present time. Leonard also said Redwood City officials considered taking over the system, but no agreement had been arrived at as yet.

The realty firm has no capital to make necessary meter connections, he said, or cannot make the needed physical changes in the system, which would cost some $20,000 to $50,000, to make an estimated saving of 20 per cent, as reported possible by Engineer Savage.

Leonard revealed that 26 of the water users, including himself, were on flat rates. He said the monthly rate to himself was about $4. Charles Holt, his realty partner, pays no rate whatever, Leonard said.

COASTSIDE ROAD PARLEY SCHEDULED

Directors of the Ocean Shore highway project, a $5,000,000 coast line road to connect San Francisco and Santa Cruz, will meet in San Francisco Friday to discuss the delay in getting the San Mateo county part of the project started.

Chairman Manuel Francis of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, who is a director, will attend.

Francis said that San Francisco now owes $51,000 of its first payment toward start of the work, and has paid only $30,000. San Mateo county's share is ready to be deposited with the directors just as soon as San Francisco makes its payment, Francis said.

An effort to get the work started on the Pedro mountain sector will be made Friday.

Further investigation into the activities of Sol Koff, San Carlos realty developer, and his two assistants, Herman Weiss and Herman Yaffe, will be made tomorrow by the Alameda County Grand Jury, which is investigating the purported "free lot racket" of the trio.

At the same time, District Attorney Matthew Brady in San Francisco said he would hear complaints against the Koff Realty Company in San Francisco at 2 o'clock tomorrow.

Koff, Weiss and Yaffe have been indicted on 13 counts. They are said by authorities to have fathered a $1,500,000 swindle in which automobile, radio and lot raffles played a part with suburban land sales.

Nearly 300 complainants have come forward to aid the Alameda authorities in the prosecution.

SPEEDERS LEAVING DOG TRACK NABBED

State Traffic Bureau
Hears Complaints
Of Road "Hogs"

Speeders roaring away from the dog races in Belmont these nights get the surprise of their lives when they find the Bayshore and El Camino Real highways swarming with traffic officers on motorcycles.

The San Mateo County Highway Patrol is now functioning under a skeletonized day crew and most of the patrol officers are reporting for night duty, Capt. James B. Logan reports. This is under instruction from E. Raymond Cato, chief of the California Highway Patrol.

Complaint was made to the state bureau that the motorists leaving the dog races San Francisco ward were forcing all southbound traffic off the highways. Not only the two northbound lanes were being used, but the third and even the fourth lane of travel also by the racing motorists.

The speed of the offending drivers averaged well above the law, most of them being charged with doing 55 and 60 miles on the two highways, it was reported.

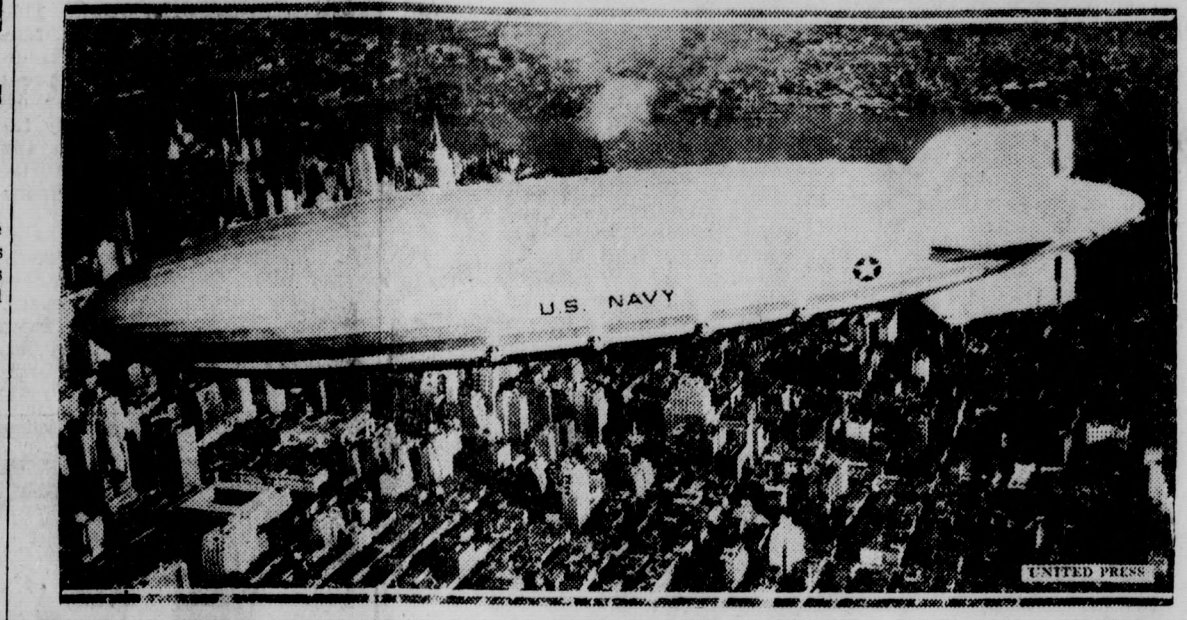

Fire which might have threatened the chemistry building at Stanford during a combustion experiment was narrowly averted during a recent laboratory class by Robert DuBois, the instructor. It was revealed on the campus today.

DuBois was heating a mixture of magnesium and silicon dioxide in a large test tube to cause a reaction in which the magnesium was to be oxidized to its oxide with the liberation of much heat. But the combustion became greater than expected, and the test tube spurted a stream of fire onto the table and floor.

DuBois, however, prevented a serious fire by keeping the test tube elevated until most of the reaction was completed before dropping it because of the intense heat.

When the alarm was given Peter Olohan, then a deputy sheriff of San Luis Obispo county, was first on the scene and arrested Hemmi, his son and a nephew and conveyed them to the county jail. The cold-blooded murder had aroused the populace that a lynching party was assembled that marched to the old jail and removed the three prisoners. The nephew was turned loose but the father and son were taken to the scene of the tragedy and lynched. The bodies were strung from a bridge in the vicinity.

Queen of Skies Visits Peninsula

Here's one of the latest views of the navy's silver giant of the skies, the U. S. S. Akron, which was a peninsula visitor today. It is the dirigible's first transcontinental flight since its completion several months ago. Its stay on the peninsula is to be a short one, as the aircraft is scheduled to meet the fleet in the Pacific for maneuvers.

OLOHAN'S PASSING RECALLS GRUESOME TRAGEDY OF '86

Peter Olohan, who passed away suddenly on May 7 while driving his automobile near San Mateo, recalls the tragic death of Eugene Walker of Arroyo Grande, San Luis Obispo county, on March 31, 1886.

Walker, son of the late Sylvester Walker, was employed on the old Gazette and the Times and Gazette from 1871 to 1884. He passed his youth at West Union where his father was engaged in the wood trade. Shortly after his marriage to Miss Nancy Little, a sister of Mrs. Thomas Shine, Young Walker, then 27, left with his bride for Arroyo Grande, near San Luis Obispo, to preempt 160 acres of government land. He had secured a title to the property in due time. A squatter named Hemmi disputed the possession and late on the evening of March 31, 1886, Hemmi Jr., 20, shot Walker dead without parley, and then shot Mrs. Walker twice.

When the alarm was given Peter Olohan, then a deputy sheriff of San Luis Obispo county, was first on the scene and arrested Hemmi, his son and a nephew and conveyed them to the county jail. The cold-blooded murder had aroused the populace that a lynching party was assembled that marched to the old jail and removed the three prisoners. The nephew was turned loose but the father and son were taken to the scene of the tragedy and lynched. The bodies were strung from a bridge in the vicinity.

Mrs. Walker died two years after the death of her husband from the wounds she had received. Her daughter, May Walker, is now a resident of Palo Alto.

Olohan resigned his position shortly after and became the first banker of Arroyo Grande. He leaves an estate valued at $150,000. He and his wife have been residents of San Mateo for the past five years. He often came to Redwood City during that time. With old timers he recalled the tragedy of long ago. He had a vivid recollection of the affair. It was he who helped cut the rope about the necks of the murderers.

It was said that the crime was perpetrated at the behest of the elder man.

The following account of the murder as related by Mrs. Walker, is taken from the San Luis Obispo Register: "Mrs. Walker and her husband were transplanting tomato vines in their garden at the rear of their house, about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon—Walker digging with a spade, while his wife planted. They were about 20 feet apart. She heard a shot behind them and saw her husband fall. He turned around and saw, leaning against the fence, Julius Hemmi taking deliberate aim at her, and before she could move, he fired. The bullet striking her right breast and passing through the lung; then she fell to the ground. Her husband she says, then endeavored to raise himself on his elbow when the murderer shot again, and Walker then lay quiet. She then tried to get up, and Hemmi fired at her again, the bullet striking her on the left arm, shattering it. She then saw that she need expect no mercy from the fiend, and had presence of mind enough to feign death, throwing her right hand over her face, and looking out remaining motionless. Hemmi stood watching their prostrate bodies for fully five minutes, holding his rifle

ELFVING WINS 15TH SEAT ON FREEHOLDERS' BOARD

Replaces James Casey
In Official Vote
Count Today

Carl W. Elfving, of Burlingame, today moved up into 15th place on the board of San Mateo County Supervisors completed the official canvass. Following canvass of the votes, the board by motion declared the 15 highest elected and instructed the county clerk to mail out the certificates of election.

Elfving replaced James L. Casey of Colma, who was in 15th place in the semi-official figures, released by County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman's office last Thursday. Casey dropped into 17th place.

Edward Brady, San Mateo, who was in 10th place, traded positions with Charles J. Eldridge of Burlingame, who was in 11th place. Fred D. Lorton of Burlingame moved from 17th place to 16th; Rudolph A. Rapsey, San Bruno, took 22nd place, and J. F. Cambiano, San Mateo, dropped into 23rd place.

Sam H. Winkbleck of Redwood City, who retained 4th place, gained 126 votes; Mark E. Ryan of Redwood City, who remained in sixth place, gained 95 votes; James B. Howell of Atherton, "high man," increased his lead by 12, and Mona L. Christensen of North Palo Alto, in 14th place, added 72 votes.

Elfving picked up 40 votes while Casey dropped 60, putting the latter in 17th place.

Errors on the part of the election boards in transferring the figures from the official tally sheets to the precinct result sheets, and in telephoning the figures to the clerk's office for the semi-official tally, were the cause of the changes. In making the official canvass, the supervisors' clerks referred to the tally sheets to make certain of the accuracy of the count.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile—Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

Polydorus, winner of the Governor Ralph handicap at Tanforan before a record crowd Saturday, is being groomed by Harry Unna for his fifth straight victory in an Au Revoir handicap Saturday, the featured stake race of getaway week at the San Bruno track.

Unna's four entries from the Bartelstein stables barely failed to take complete honors Saturday when Joe Flores cut in for a second place. Yonkel and Sidney Grant, both trained by Unna, placed third and fourth, and Golden Prince was sixth.

Jockey Johnny Haiben rated Polydorus in the early running and pilled up a steady lead in spite of the horse's weight handicap of 121 pounds. Governor Ralph presented a trophy to the winner.

Other leading entries in the Au Revoir are Morpheus, Joe Flores, Golden State, Listo, Durango Bahamas, Miss Vacuum, Seth's Hope, Deacie, Jim Dandy, Mopeco and Coalizer.

Defeated by the Stockton high school swimming team at Stockton Saturday, 47 to 34, the Sequoia high school mermen will prepare this week for the annual North Coast Section meet at Palo Alto Saturday, May 21.

Louis Eaton, whose failure to come up to form in the Peninsula Athletic League meet Friday because of illness during the week cost Sequoia the title, showed slight improvement Saturday but still will have to gain considerably in the free style events if the Cherokees are to provide Palo Alto with a threat for the N. C. S. title.

Capt. "K" Martin is back in top condition again as indicated by the fast time of 1:15.9 he turned in for the 100-yard breast stroke to defeat Tucker at Stockton.

Eaton was second to Trantam of Stockton in a 254 50-yard free style race and again in the century, in 37.1. In both races Eaton approached his own record time, however, which are 25.8 in the 50 and something under 35 flat in the 100.

Results of the Sequoia-Stockton meet:

TRACKMEN PICKED BY RUSS SWEET

Menlo Junior College athletes will come out of quarantine Saturday for the purpose of competing in the annual Fresno Relays.

With the quarantine ban on the school expected to be lifted tomorrow, Coach Russ Sweet announced today that he will take 12 athletes to Fresno to compete in the quarter and half-mile relays and field events.

The track delegation will be headed by Alvin Fitch, sensational sprinter, and includes Menlo's conference championship mile relay team of Capt. Art. Rice, Bill Minor, Harry Rennie and Ben Williams. Rice, Rennie and Minor are entered along with Neal, Berry and Al Fitch for the half-mile relay.

Dunn May Place
Gordon Dunn, Jaycee conference record holder in the discus and shotput, is figured on as a possible point winner in the shot. Dunn has thrown around 45 feet. Stan Nobs and Charley Hatch, a pair of six-foot high jumpers, "Zip" Leonard, javelin, Arnie Anderson, pole vault; Bob Bowman, broad jump, and George Kohler, hurdler, completes the Menlo delegation. Russ Sweet and Manager "Hi" King will accompany the team.

Twenty-three University of California trackmen will compete at Fresno, according to an announcement made today by Coach Walt Christie. The California men will compete in three relay races, as well as several track and field events, making the Bears' participation in the Fresno meet the most extensive thus far, Christie said.

Christie plans to start a mile relay team composed of Van Loebensels, Miller, Lucas and Simpson. From this quartet, and Wyke, another quarter-miler, he will select two men to team with Bryant and Raftery in the medley relay.

Ben-Vic Duel
Interests among track fans centered around the final lap of the mile relay, where Ben Eastman of Stanford, Vic Williams of U. A. C. and Art Woessner of U. S. C. are figured on as anchor men. Another 440-yard meeting between Eastman and Williams alone is enough to excite track fans, while the addition of Woessner places so much more drama in the event. Williams and Eastman staged a thrilling duel for 440-yard honors last year, each gaining a verdict over the other in two meets on the coast while Williams triumphed over the Card man at the I. C. 4-A. Both equaled the world record of 47.4 for the quarter-mile last year.

Local Prep Athletes Are Given Chance

Four Sequoia high school track men were named today by Coach Ray Dimick to enter the North Coast Section track and field championships at Edwards Stadium at Berkeley Saturday afternoon starting at 2 o'clock.

Capt. Frank Armstrong, discus thrower; Jack Franklin, quarter-miler; Everett Everett, 880, and Carl Thimier, pole vaulter, will represent the Cherokees.

Armstrong placed second to Walter Back of Palo Alto in the Peninsula Athletic League discus event last week with a heave of slightly better than 120 feet. He led the field until Back's final attempt, which was 122 feet 11½ inches.

Given Chance
Franklin, another Sequoian who was edged out by a Palo Alto athlete, placed second to Harold Francis by inches in a .522 quarter-mile race. Franklin possesses one of the smoothest paces of any

Woodside Firemen Score Easy Ball Win

WOODSIDE, May 9.—Heavy hitting led by Shine and Mangan helped the Woodside Firemen to a 14 to 2 victory over the Slavonia Club baseball team of San Francisco here yesterday.

Kelly, Woodside pitcher, was robbed of a shut-out when two errors accounted for the two runs made by the visitors.

Next Sunday Woodside will play Hayward at Woodside at 2 o'clock.

Everett was fourth in a fast field of middle distance men, led by Wenzel of Burlingame in the record time of 2:02.8.

Thimier, who tied for first in the pole vault at 11 feet 4 inches, has won nothing less than a tie for first in every meet he has entered this year and may come through with a victory in the N. C. S. event. He has done 11 feet 7 inches and is capable of soaring 12 feet if conditions are right.

The doctor ordered an immediate change of climate. A simple prescription. Yet under other circumstances it might have proved hard to fill.

Fortunately for this woman, she and her husband over a period of years had been putting aside a modest sum of money each month—"Our emergency fund," they called it.

To save money, a well-thought-out spending plan is essential. We have a budget form that may help you draw up a spending plan for your own household. Menlo Park

The city council met Tuesday evening. Anderson was the only member absent.

A communication was read from A. Cohenback, owner of the Blue Moon dance hall, in which he stated it was impossible for his tenants to pay rent in view of the new burdens placed on them by the council in making them pay extra policemen and shortening the hours for dancing. The Musicians' Union also complained of the new regulations, saying that the men may lose their positions. On motion of Hart, seconded by Crane, the matter was continued to May 24 at 8 o'clock when all parties may be presented and air their differences.

The superintendent of streets and the chief of police were instructed to inspect the overhanging signs on sidewalks and other places and make a report of their findings to the council.

This was the time set for hearing evidence and arguments on the matter of the tampering of the assessment roll for Paraiso Park, about which much bitter words have been uttered. Feeling ran high during the investigation and heated arguments took place between the mayor and Harcom, chairman of the Paraiso Park committee.

The "investigation," or "hearing," closed with the statements under oath of J. J. Harcom and other members of the Paraiso Park Property Owners' Association committee and those of City Engineer Bert J. Mehl, Mayor W. H. Weeden and City Attorney George K. Whitworth still in direct conflict. At the conclusion of the heated debate, the city council voted merely to "close the procedure" and came to no decision over the alleged falsification.

Towards the close of the two-hour-and-a-half discussion Harcom directly accused City Engineer Mehl of having changed the two-inch wearing surface figure to 1 1/4 inches.

Declaring that when the assessment, which was later ordered dropped, was filed on January 14 that there was not 1 1/4 inches of wearing surface and that, if the assessment hearing of February 2 had gone through, the job would have been accepted, Harcom asserted, "It was to the engineer's interest to change it to throw dust into the eyes of anybody that was interested."

Questions Exchanged Hotly
"I say," he accused, "that the figure was changed before it was filed."

"Then why did you prevail upon the city clerk not to return the assessment roll before the city election," replied Mehl as he jumped to his feet and vehemently denied Harcom's allegations. "Mr. Harcom's statements are all imagination," he said.

Just previous to this sharp exchange City Attorney Whitworth had declared that any such alteration of the assessment of the city not to the advantage of the city engineer or any property owner but only to one interested in seeing the proceedings go "haywire."

The session opened with a barrage of hot words immediately after Harcom was sworn in to testify. He demanded a promise from the council that "whatever the findings" the members would immediately proceed with calling an investigation by the district attorney.

"We have already done so," retorted Mayor Weeden.
"Will you do it again?" Harcom demanded. "If you find the assessment roll was altered, what are you going to do?"

City Attorney Whitworth replied that it was not for the council to decide beforehand and after Harcom repeated his demand again he said, "The council will take appropriate action."

Harcom again persisted, but Mayor Weeden threatened to rule him out of order, saying, "We are not here to argue with you."

Former Charges Repeated
Under questioning by Whitworth, Harcom repeated charges and assertions made in a recent formal statement concerning events at a meeting of the Paraiso Park committee with City Engineer Mehl early in April.

Harcom testified that the two-inch figure was changed to 1 1/4 inches on the carbon copy they saw at Mehl's office and said that he had called it to the latter's attention. At the conclusion of his testimony he asked that an investigation be made into the whole matter as referred to in a recent letter written by Mehl to the council in which the engineer denied previous statements made by Harcom.

"Why was not the change reported discovered until April 13 when we pointed it out a week before?" Harcom shouted at the conclusion of his testimony. "Why was the district attorney asked to investigate before the facts were determined? Why was the investigation not pushed?" The council has a right to know, he said, how and why public documents were altered.

City Attorney Whitworth explained that the investigation could go no further in view of the direct conflict in evidence unless additional facts were discovered.

The next member of the Paraiso Park committee called, Walter Bidwell, declared that he also had seen the change. "Any handwriting expert could tell who made the change," he said. Asked if he had any idea who did, he replied, "Yes, the same man as did all the papers."

Thomas Stentiford, also of the committee, testified that he did not see the carbon copy at the meeting with Mehl and thus saw no change. He reported that he heard the conversation but made no inquiry.

Max Mielke was positive that he had seen the change in the carbon copy. "Mr. Mehl seemed awful upset about it," he declared.

Criminologist Quoted
Later, when he was shown an unchanged carbon copy that was declared on the authority of E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist, to have been the only possible carbon copy and asked if that was the copy he had seen at Mehl's office, Mielke hesitated before replying, "If this is carried through to the grand jury, I will give my answer." Just previously, Harcom said that that was not the copy.

In his initial testimony Mielke corroborated Harcom's statements and then produced photostatic copies taken of the original assessment roll before it was retyped to the city engineer for modification and cited alleged mistakes in it.

The fifth member of the committee, Harry Fandler, testified that he had seen the copy and saw the "1 1/4 inch" figure "but it might have been the water pipe." Fandler declared that he was paying particular attention because his particular interest was in corner assessments.

Mrs. Fannie I. Kurtz was then questioned and declared that no one could have seen the assessment roll while it was on file before it was inspected by Robert Klassen, Redwood City engineer, who first noticed the change. It is the contention of Mayor Weeden and Engineer Mehl that the change was made when someone inspected the copy.

Called to testify, City Engineer Mehl vigorously repeated evidence he gave at the council meeting of two weeks ago. Salient points in his testimony were that there were no ink corrections on the original when it was filed, that there was only one carbon copy and never any more.

Mehl recalled that Harcom had mentioned a 1 1/4-inch figure on the original but denied Harcom's assertion that the latter had pointed out a change on the carbon.

"Did he (Harcom) point out any change on the carbon," Whitworth asked.

"No, he did not," replied Mehl. Chet Mehl, brother of the city engineer, testified that he had typed the assessment roll and that there was only one original and one carbon copy.

After attempting to question him, Harcom said, "It is our contention that the inch-and-a-half figure was changed off that carbon again, or that this (the copy shown at the meeting last night) is another copy."

Mayor W. H. Weeden then read the Heinrich report that the original was changed, the carbon unchanged and that the carbon was a true carbon copy. He reported that Heinrich said that it would have been impossible to have made another carbon copy.

"Did you ask who changed the copy?" Mielke asked.
"The copy was unchanged," Weeden replied.

"We are talking about the original," Harcom interjected.
"But you charge that the carbon was also changed," Weeden reported.

After sharp bickering between City Attorney Whitworth and Harcom over what Harcom declared was "a demand on Mrs. Kurtz to give up the assessment roll," Mayor Weeden turned to Harcom and said:

"Why did you call Mr. Martin (K. L. Martin) and ask him to have me drop the matter?"

Defends Woman
"I am glad you brought this up," said Harcom. "I said that an innocent little woman is being accused, and I won't stand for it. The answer to that is that we have asked for a grand jury investigation."

More vigorous exchanges occurred when Klassen, associate of George A. Kneese, former city engineer of Menlo Park, told of his discovery of the change. He said that he was sure that he was the first to see the assessment roll after it was filed.

Klassen then went on to attack the manner in which the assessment was drawn. "At the time," he said, "I considered it far more important that the 'certificate of the engineer' was not signed. It is my opinion that it was no assessment."

"That is only your opinion," Whitworth replied. "The only thing we are considering is the one change. The fact that there may be other discrepancies is of no concern."

"The reason for the change was that the first assessment was made before the work was finished with the understanding that if there was one objection it would be recalled. It was on my advice that it was killed and a new one ordered."

Then Klassen said, "The only reason I am here is because my name has been brought in in an unpleasant way, and I resent it."

"It is unethical of you to come here and criticize," Mayor Weeden interjected, but Mehl said, "Let him go ahead."

Then Klassen repeated that because his name had been brought in unpleasantly that "I want to give you my opinion."

Miss Sarah Fry asked if the street work was two inches. "If it is, I don't see why all the hullabaloo,"

The city engineer replied that it was and that any typographical errors in the assessment can be cleared at any time. Stentiford declared that the street work was not up to specifications. "If you can find a four-inch crown, we will be satisfied," said Mielke.

In summing up the statements made last night, City Attorney Whitworth declared that there was still a conflict in testimony, directly in particular as regarding the integrity of the carbon copy of the assessment roll.

Further thrashing out of the entire Paraiso Park paving matter is scheduled for the hearing on May 26 on the new assessment roll. At that time it is expected that the property owners' committee will present their contentions that the work has not been done according to specifications.

The citizens of Menlo Park have petitioned the State Highway Commission to establish stop signs at the grammar school on the highway. Over 200 signatures have been secured. More than 75 per cent of the children come from the southwest of town. It is for their protection the signals are needed. No doubt the commission will grant the request.

The announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Regina Harrington, winsome daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harrington of this city and Frank Ganor of San Mateo. No date has been set for the wedding but it will occur shortly. The prospective bride was reared in Menlo Park and holds a position of trust with a Palo Alto bank. The couple will live at San Mateo.

Menlo Park Post, No. 443, American Legion, will sponsor its first dance tomorrow evening in the Blue Moon hall. This is to be a real old time dance with the spirit that prevailed in other days. A prize waltz is a feature that is certain to excite interest. The cause is worthy, the dance is to be enjoyable, the floor is good; so come and take part in the fun that will prevail at this old time affair that'll bring back memories of Menlo Park's past.

The grammar school trustees of Ravenswood district have reduced the salaries of the teachers by 15 per cent. This cut will go into effect at the beginning of the new term.

Last week the city council passed a resolution abandoning the proposed street improvements on Fremont street. Over 50 per cent of the property owners protested.

Proceedings to improve the street under the jurisdiction of the council cannot be started for a year. The council also adopted and passed an amendment to the police ordinance regulating the salaries of policemen.

Lorraine, the six-year-old daughter of Chief of Police Love, fell on the lawn sprinkler at her home in Stanford Park last Sunday and suffered a compound fracture of her elbow. The little miss was rushed to the O'Connor Sanitarium at San Jose to be under the care of a bone specialist. She is recovering nicely and is expected to be home in a short time. The little girl is a gifted musician, already being proficient in singing and the playing of several instruments.

D. E. O'Keefe and Bernard Lar-

lor of Native Sons that convenes recon, delegates to the Grand Par- at Stockton next Monday, will leave here Sunday evening. The delegates are backing Samuel M. Shortridge, Jr., for grand trustee. The young man will have only small opposition as he is popular with the members of the society throughout the state. Hartley Russell, whose father was born and raised in Menlo Park, is a candidate for third vice-president. He will be supported by the local delegates.

CURRENT VISIT HERE OF AKRON GIVES US FORETASTE OF WHAT BASE WILL MEAN TO PENINSULA

From the very start of the regional campaign to have the Sunnyvale site selected as the navy's west coast dirigible site it has been acknowledged in a general sort of way that "this will be a big thing for this whole section." But it remained for the current visit of the Akron to demonstrate to us concretely how this would be a big thing. For days in anticipation of the Akron's arrival, the visitors to the Sunnyvale base in its initiatory stages of development have been increasing. Uncounted thousands are certain to be present there for the mooring of the dirigible to the Sunnyvale mast.

The Akron's visit on this occasion will be short. But ultimately the Macon, sister airship of the Akron, will come westward to make Sunnyvale her permanent berthing place. Millions of dollars worth of development work in buildings and equipment are in prospect at the base. Auxiliary craft will be located there. The presence of the uniformed men in charge of operations will give the place an atmosphere both colorful and distinctive. A definite "life" will characterize the base. The Sunnyvale dirigible base will become established within relatively few months as one of the leading showplaces not only in Northern California, but on the entire Pacific coast. No visit to the coast will be complete without a glimpse of the famous dirigible center once its stature is attained. The trekking of sightseers to Sunnyvale precipitated at this time by the Akron's scheduled appearance will be one of the regular phenomena of daily life in this region. The business benefits which this will confer upon all parts of the peninsula are something which cannot be estimated with any degree of accuracy at this time. But they are certain to be considerable.

Of course much yet remains to be done to make things easy and convenient for the visitors. Road improvements to the base must be hastened for the efficient and safe handling of traffic. But these are in contemplation.

IN TIME OF GREAT EMERGENCY DICTATORSHIP IS NOT SO BAD

The speech made in congress the other day suggesting this country's need of a Mussolini-like dictator in connection with President Hoover's difficulty in getting his budget balancing ideas executed by congress was not without its merits. Indeed, our own exceedingly democratic system of managing public affairs provides dictatorships in many critical situations where decisions must be made promptly and action speeded with unity of purpose. The army and navy are the most outstanding and familiar examples of that fact. Our fire departments too accept the dictatorship of the fire chief when catastrophe calls for their services. Firemen do not argue among themselves at such times whether the chief's ideas are good or not, nor do they take time out to point over hurt feelings at the manner in which the chief's orders have been given. They accept his decision—and the job gets done. In private affairs too dictatorships are set up in times of emergency. When the patient is admittedly in a critical condition and the physician says an operation is necessary, the recommendation is not made the subject of referendum to aunts, cousins, neighbors and household servants. The doctor becomes the dictator and his word is accepted as command.

The situation at Washington today is like that of the house on fire and the one of the patient in critical state. The financial welfare of the government is in jeopardy. Congress has demonstrated its own incapacity to unite on the necessary course of action, and makes of the president's recommendations nothing more than food for the politicians' oratorical bill of fare. A dictator could get something done.

The great San Joaquin Valley is supporting Senator Samuel M. Shortridge for re-election. Every tariff raised in that rich district is protected by high tariff rates whose passage by congress is largely the result of Shortridge's tireless efforts. The farmers appreciate what has been done for them and are going to give the incumbent their staunch support. Dr. A. L. Van Meter of Stockton has been made chairman of a San Joaquin Valley organization to boost for the renomination and re-election of Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, V. R. Larson of Lodi; Carroll G. Grunsky, Stockton; George Luhrs, Tracy; Dr. A. J. Whitaker, Manteca; S. J. Irwin, Escalon, are vice presidents. Stephen Blewett has been made secretary and L. T. Freitas treasurer of the club.

Film On Life Of Washington Due

"The Life of George Washington," historical film especially prepared by the committee in charge of the nation-wide bicentennial celebration commemorating this year the birth of the first president, will be shown in Redwood City May 31 as part of the city's Memorial Day exercises.

This announcement was made today by County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman, who, as a director of the Yountville Veterans' Home, has secured the film from that institution to show it locally. It will probably be screened at the Sequoia Theater if arrangements can be made.

No other San Mateo county showing of the film is likely, Hinman said.

SUNNYVALE SUES FOR ROAD RIGHTS

Condemnation proceedings to secure a strip of land for straightening and widening the road leading from Sunnyvale to the dirigible air base were instituted yesterday in superior court in San Jose by the City of Sunnyvale.

Named in the action as the owners of the property sought for the road project are Frank T. and Rose Vargas.

Through an order signed by Superior Judge P. F. Gosbey, Sunnyvale was granted permission to take immediate possession of the sought land so as not to delay work on the road.

The property sought by Sunnyvale contains eight-tenths of an acre and is for straightening and widening Matilda avenue, near the intersection of Maud avenue, leading from Sunnyvale to the air base.

Sunnyvale is asking the court to determine the valuation of the land and decree it a public necessity for the safety of the motoring public.

RED AND WHITE STORES NOW OPEN

The announcement of the opening of the Red & White Stores into practice in Redwood City and Menlo Park a merchandising principle which is in use throughout the United States and Canada. The member stores are individually owned and have aligned themselves with the Red & White organization to secure advantages for the more economical distribution of food stuffs.

The members of Red & White Stores have the advantage of group newspaper advertising which carries the messages of this group to their customers and prospective customers at a low cost per store.

There is available for the store shelves a complete line of assorted food products which are nationally advertised and which are packed especially for Red & White Stores.

In every geographical district under the operating plan, a wholesale warehouse is designated as the sponsor of the stores. The expert buyers of this firm then assume control of the buying for that group of stores, which under the old system was an uneconomical procedure.

Buying for a large group of stores, the warehouse is able at all times to take advantage of the quantity discounts and at the same time not make unwarranted investments in stock.

All Red & White Stores have repainted fronts in red and white colors to a pattern which is universally employed. The signs, which are standard, hang above each front.

The services of expert accountants are available for the member stores. This important detail of many retail grocers is often neglected, causing losses to the owners.

The following grocery stores are now operating in Redwood City and Menlo Park and vicinity under the Red & White banner: Hallett's Market, Broadway; Hinman's Market, Main street, Redwood City; and City Market Grocery and Menlo Fruit Market, Menlo Park.

Spanish War Vets Plan Memorial Day

Hinman, who was the first commander of Capt. H. J. Reilly camp, U.S.W.V., seven years ago. Mr. Hinman has asked various organizations here to appoint a member to a general committee which is to meet and prepare a program for May 30.

Legal Fight For Hindenburg Kin's Share Of Fortune Awaits Arrival Of R. C. Man's Sister From Chicago

Grandnephew of President von Hindenburg of Germany—

Descendant of a California forty-niner—

Heir to a tidy fortune—

Despite these things, Sewell Augustus ("Clarence") Auerwald, in turn poultry worker, farm hand and well drilled, today declares his biggest concern right now is to find himself a job.

Living in a modest cottage in the North Fair Oaks district with his wife, Olive, and their three children, Robert, 8; Olive May, 6; and Violet, 4, Auerwald goes out daily in search of employment. He feels somewhat bitter toward the state for the failure to prepare him better for life, saying he was forced into the world at the age of 13 from a Salvation Army orphanage, with no special training which would assure him a livelihood.

The estate which Auerwald is now seeking to gain possession of consists of one-half of a 305-acre orange grove one mile outside of San Bernardino, which he estimates is valued at $1800 an acre, or $549,000. Also, he believes, one-half of the profits of the orchard for the past 24 years since it was sold, should come to him.

H. P. Marley, Los Angeles capitalist, claims he is owner of the orchard, but Auerwald declares that the San Bernardino county records show that he purchased only half of it.

This estate was that of his mother, May Augusta von Winkler, only child of August von Winkler, Salt Lake City and San Bernardino settler, and one of California's 49ers. Von Winkler was a saloon keeper in "Berdo" and built up his acreage by buying property on which taxes had fallen delinquent. He owned many parcels of downtown San Bernardino property, Auerwald found, and some of these, he believes, belonged to his mother, but have since been sold.

The grandmother, remarried, and became Mrs. Charles Carter. When she died, she left half the estate to her daughter, May Augusta, and the other half to her two other children by Carter, Charles P. Carter and Sarah Steffler, of Elmore, Riverside county.

May Augusta von Winkler married Carl Otto Auerwald in London. He was a German newspaper man and in the secret service. His father, Julius Auerwald, was believed to have married a sister of Von Hindenburg. A daughter, Clarissa Auerwald, of Chicago; Jewell Auerwald, of Redwood City, and a second son were born to them. The third child died in infancy, Clarissa Auerwald, now Mrs. Charles Mechl of Chicago, whom Auerwald has found after a 22-year search, was born in Germany. Sewell was born in San Bernardino in 1905 after the mother had left her husband in Germany and had rejoined her relatives in America.

When Sewell was about 5, and his sister, Clarissa, about 7, the mother "railroaded" to an asylum in Southern California. Auerwald declares. She died there in 1916.

In 1914, their father, Otto Carl Auerwald, then in the secret service of Germany, came to America. He came to Redwood City in company of a Mr. C. E. Cumberson.

also reported to have been in the secret service. They were watching experiments being made on a new explosive powder, Auerwald has been informed.

On July 8, 1915, Auerwald's father and Cumberson quarreled. The former fired three shots at his fellow agent, and then set fire to a barn on the place. While being taken to the county jail at Redwood City, Auerwald's father swallowed a vial of poison he carried on a string around his neck.

He died that day. When his estate was filed in court by Attorney A. Kincaid, Sheriff Mike Sheehan was appointed special administrator. It consisted of his clothing and a gold watch, together valued at $25.

This information Auerwald has just learned, having lived in this vicinity for over a decade without knowing that his father had taken his own life here.

Auerwald's first contact with his relatives came on December 23, 1931, when his wife ran up to him and said: "Miss Kreiss, probation officer, called and said she wanted to locate you. She had a letter saying there was some property that you were going to inherit."

"Needless to say, I was excited," Auerwald says.

His next step was to communicate with his uncle, John Carter, of Beaumont. He then went to Los Angeles and his aunt, Mrs. Steffler, opened a trunk for him in which was contained his mother's picture, marriage license, and birth certificates of the three children. These records revealed that he was 26 years old, and that he had married at 16.

When he asked his kin why they never sought to find him "before this," Auerwald said they replied: "A lot of relatives are not worth looking up."

And when he was urged to make a cash settlement with Marley "to keep the money in the family," instead of letting attorneys get a share of it, Auerwald said he replied: "It's been in the family" too long.

He has retained Attorney John Taaffe of San Francisco, who represented Mrs. Constance May Gavlin in the Flood will trial, as his counsel. As soon as the sister arrives from Chicago, the legal battle will open to get at least his mother's share of the estate.

Injured Auto Victim Lawsuit Plaintiff

Damages of $5,278.75 were asked today by Edwin W. Holden against J. C. Storey and his son as the result of injuries incurred in an automobile mishap on the Skyline boulevard at the county line, April 24, last.

Holden suffered internal injuries which have resulted in dizziness and sleeplessness.

Dr. A. Gaudreau, of Paris makes use of a principle of physiology and injects saucers and seasoning directly into the blood streams of chickens. He says this aids the flavoring in penetrating the meat and none is necessary on cooking the fowl.

Former Woodside Resident Married In San Francisco

WOODSIDE, May 12.—A wedding of interest to many local people took place last week at the Corpus Christi Church in San Francisco. The bridegroom was Alfred Perpoli, who, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Perpoli, formerly lived at the family home on the Canada road. His bride was Miss Dorothy Kain of San Francisco. Their attendants were Daniel Kain, brother of the bride, and Miss Lorraine Esque of the same city. The members of both families were present at the ceremony, after which the couple left for a wedding trip in the north.

Mr. and Mrs. Perpoli will make their home at Almaden, Santa Clara county, where Mr. Perpoli is engaged in business with his father.

The Jesse Nelson family is now occupying the Andrew Nelson cottage on the Woodside road. They have recently moved from King's Mountain road.

The ownership of the Woodside Barber Shop was transferred early this week from Walter Ulrich, who has operated it for five years, to Eugene Urban of Redwood City.

Mr. Urban is a stepson of the late Martin Seibert, who first opened the barber shop in Woodside six years ago.

All of this week the Woodside school will be a mecca for students of the rural school education classes of the San Jose State Teachers' College, who are observing the work in both the Woodside and Portola school.

Two new student teachers arrived this week. Miss Dorothy Davis of Sacramento, who will work in the upper grade room, and Miss Lucille Cikuth of Watsonville. The young women have taken an apartment at Mrs. Emma Andreen's.

The final regular meeting of the year for the Woodside Parent-Teacher Association was conducted by Mrs. L. E. John the latter part of the week. During the business session, Mrs. P. D. Jarvis and Mrs. Robert Mailly, as delegates, gave reports on the convention of the 17th district held in April at San Mateo. The report of the state convention at Fresno was given by Mrs. L. E. John, who was Woodside's delegate.

Mrs. J. D. Gish, chairman of the dental clinic, reported that the work had been completed for the year with a balance still on hand.

It was reported that the annual luncheon for the installation of officers would take place at the Woodside Inn on May 26 at 1 o'clock. Reservations will be 75 cents.

The Woodside Gardeners' Association shared the profits of their recent card party with the organization in appreciation for the co-operation of the latter.

The following committee, with Mrs. Gish as chairman, Mrs. Ida Hubell and Mrs. O. W. Dudley, has charge of the plans for the graduation class entertainment and gifts. The association voted a $25 scholarship to be awarded an honor pupil at Sequoia high school and also voted a generous sum toward the Girl Scout fund.

◆ Woodside ◆

Miss Elsa Mueller of Woodside, having won the women's championship in Northern California bowling circles, will leave for Los Angeles next week to compete in the state finals. If she wins this event she will bowl at the Olympic Games later in the season.

Two new student teachers reported to the local school on Monday for their practice teaching. They are Miss Dorothy Davis and Miss May Cikuth. Although both are from the State Teachers' College at San Jose, Miss Davis' home is at Sacramento while Miss Cik-uth lives at Watsonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Harrison have been visiting with Mrs. Harrison's mother, Mrs. Emma Andreen.

This has been visiting week at the Woodside school. Each day has seen groups of senior pupils from San Jose State College observing the teaching methods followed at this school. Thursday brought 60 of the coming teachers in two buses under the direction of Miss Elsie Toles, professor of education at the college. The physical setting of the school with its splendid tree-studded playground and the educational equipment of the school has been the admiration of all.
